The goal of the Food Mobile distribution is to enhance a community's access to nutritious food for those in need. Good Shepherd Food Bank operates the Food Mobile program with the help of partner agencies and community partners.

Advertising for the Food Mobile:

- The hosting agency is responsible for advertising the Food Mobile – Good Shepherd Food Bank provides a media template that you can use to submit to the local newspapers or create flyers.
- Any written advertising for the Food Mobile must include the Good Shepherd Food Bank logo. In the case of media interviews, ads or public service announcements, the Food Mobile must be identified as a program of Good Shepherd Food Bank's.
- It is expected that the hosting agency will reach out to all local food pantries and community partners to maximize outreach.
- Patrons should be advised to bring their own bags or boxes.

Welcoming Food Mobile Patrons:

- Anyone is welcome to attend the Food Mobile – patrons do not need to reside in the town in which the Food Mobile is being hosted.
- Please keep a tally of how many households are in attendance for future reference. Only the following additional information may be requested, but is not required:
 - Number in household
 - Town in which guest resides
 - Hosting agencies may not ask for names, phone numbers, proof of residency, or proof of income.

 - Perishable food must remain in refrigerated bays until distribution begins and for as long as possible – only restock products as necessary.
 - Do not overload the distribution tables. Defer to Food Bank staff's guidance.
- All product should be inspected upon receipt and found to be fit for human consumption. (Products can shift in transit or during handling – all product should be inspected for cracks, breakage, leakage, etc. as it is being distributed and disposed of if necessary.)

- Food must be distributed equitably.
- Leftover product must remain within Good Shepherd Food Bank's partner agency network.
 - If the hosting agency is a partner agency of Good Shepherd Food Bank's and has approved storage, then the leftover product should be retained by the agency for future distributions.
 - If the hosting agency does not have the capacity to retain the leftover product or is not a partner agency, the Food Bank will donate the remaining product to the nearest partner agency.

 - We reserve the prerogative to approve a site for suitability using Google maps and/or an on-site visit.
- Assume all responsibility for maintaining safe premises for distribution (i.e. ice & snow are cleared from area, parking is supervised so as to not compromise the safety of those walking to and from the distribution, etc.).
