Mainers Feeding Mainers

Good Shepherd Food Bank would like to thank our dedicated farm partners, who once again helped us fill food pantry shelves across the state with fresh Maine foods. Our Mainers Feeding Mainers program had another successful year – we distributed 1.5 million pounds of local foods through our statewide network of partner agencies and invested more than $400,000 into Maine’s agricultural sector. Since the program began in 2010, Good Shepherd Food Bank has provided nearly 7 million pounds of nutritious, Maine-grown food to our neighbors facing hunger.

Thank you for supporting Good Shepherd Food Bank through another year of eliminating hunger in Maine communities. In 2015, the Food Bank experienced growth and change, as we increased our distribution of nutritious meals to Mainers in need and purchased a building that will allow us to expand operations in central, northern, and eastern Maine.

As Good Shepherd Food Bank embarks on its 35th year of providing food and hope to Mainers facing hunger, our mission is being carried out in three ways: Food Today, Food Tomorrow, and Food for All.

FOOD TODAY – distributing nutritious food to more than 400 partner agencies across Maine, including food pantries, meal sites, and schools to ensure our neighbors have enough food each day.

FOOD TOMORROW – building resiliency among Mainers by offering cooking and nutrition classes, supporting local agriculture, and equipping children with the nutritious food they need to learn in school and grow into healthy adults.

FOOD FOR ALL – advocating for a robust food system and strong safety net, which together provide access to nutritious food for all.

As always, the support of our donors, volunteers, and fellow advocates is essential as we work toward meeting our goals. Together we can solve hunger.

Cheers,

Kris Miale
President

Hunger in Maine

According to USDA’s annual food insecurity research, 16.2 percent of Maine households are food insecure, meaning:

- 206,000 Mainers are facing hunger, including 1 in 4 Maine children.

FOOD TODAY

Statewide Community Partnerships

In 2015, Good Shepherd Food Bank distributed 23 million pounds of food through our network of partner agencies across the state. That is the equivalent of 19 million meals for Mainers facing hunger.

Community Partners:

Food Pantries, Meal Sites, Shelters, Schools, Health Centers

We work with more than 400 partner agencies in all 16 counties to provide nutritious food assistance, so that all Maine residents have the food they need each day.

Through this statewide network, the Food Bank is able to distribute food safely and equitably, while leveraging community resources and local knowledge.

Together we’re serving more than 178,000 unique individuals each year.
Child Hunger Programs

School Pantry – This program provides food and technical assistance to schools to operate an on-site food pantry where students and families can receive food assistance and other resources as needed.

BackPack – This program provides children facing chronic hunger with bags of nutritious, easy-to-prepare food to eat during weekends and school vacations when school meals are unavailable.

Summer Meals – Good Shepherd Food Bank partners with community organizations in Bangor and Brewer to sponsor 5 meal sites as part of the national Summer Food Service Program. We support other sites throughout Maine with grants to increase participation.

In 2015, our Child Hunger Programs provided 448,000 meals to more than 2,500 children statewide.

Cooking Matters

In 2015, Cooking Matters offered 446 classes and grocery store tours statewide to more than 6,000 participants.

Cooking Matters is a hands-on cooking and nutrition education program for low-income families, offered statewide in partnership with Maine SNAP-Ed.

Participants learn to shop for nutritious food on a budget and prepare meals that are both healthy and delicious.

In 2015, Good Shepherd Food Bank made significant investments in our statewide infrastructure with the goal of distributing even more nutritious food equitably across the state of Maine.

No matter where they live, all of our Maine neighbors should have access to the nutritious food they need to live a healthy life.

Auburn

Cold Storage Expansion – we added 105,000 cubic feet of root crop storage to our Auburn facility. This additional space will allow us to store hardy crops such as potatoes, apples, cabbage, and carrots, purchased from Maine farmers, throughout the winter months.

Hampden

With the purchase of a new warehouse facility in Hampden, the Food Bank will be able to increase service in central, northern, and eastern Maine. These regions have the highest rates of food insecurity in the state.
